Bombay, India, July 12 (AP) — A Royal Dutch airlines (KLM) constellations crashing through a driving rainstorm crashed north of Bombay today killing all 44 persons aboard. Thirteen American newsmen were among the dead.

The plane struck a rocky hilltop while approaching the Santa Cruz airfield, 15 miles north of Bombay. It hit a hill near Ghatkopar, on the opposite side of the 30-mile-long island from Santa Cruz.

Monsoon rains beating down on the scene of the crash hampered search parties. The first to reach the area said wreckage was strewn over a two-mile area some two miles above sea level.

Bodies Badly Burned
The plane caught fire and charred trees on the rain drenched hill-top. One eye-witness said the bodies were so badly burned that identification was difficult.

The accident was said to be the worst in India's aviation history. The Indian government began an investigation and granted special authorization to KLM to send an aircraft and Dutch technicians to the scene.

The American newsmen aboard were returning from a tour of Indonesia sponsored by the Netherlands government. Two winners of the Pulitzer prize for news reporting were among those killed. They were H. R. Knickerbocker of Radio station WOR, New York, and S. Burton Heath of NEA (The Newspaper-Enterprise association).

List American Dead
In addition to the newsmen, the plane carried 21 other passengers and a crew of 10. KLM offices in the Hague and Batavia said there were 44 on the plane. There were reports in New Delhi that still another person was aboard.

The American reporters listed as dead by the American consulate: Nat A. Barrows, Chicago Daily News; James Branyon, Houston (Tex.); Post; Fred Colvig, Denver Post; Miss Elsie Dick, Mutual Broadcasting system; Tom Falco, Business Week magazine; Charles Gratke, foreign editor of The Christian Science Monitor, Boston; S. Burton Heath (home, Darien, Conn.); Bertram D. Hulen, New York Times; H. R. Knickerbocker; Vincent Mahoney, San Francisco Chronicle; George Moorad, Portland Oregonian and station KGW; William H. Newton, Scripps-Howard Newspaper Alliance, and John Werkey, Time magazine.

Another American killed was Lynn Mahan, of New York, representing Theodor Swanson & company, New York. This company, in cooperation with the Netherlands government, had invited American newspapers, radio stations and news agencies to (Please Turn to Page 2)

SET MOSQUITO TRAP IN TOWN

A "mosquito trap," equipped with an electric light to attract the mosquitoes, has been installed in the yard at the home of Borough Councilman Fred Hummelbaugh, a member of the mosquito committee of the council.

The trap was loaned by the state. It has a cyanide jar at the bottom which kills the trapped mosquitoes. These are then sent to a federal laboratory in New York city for classification.

Object of the trap, the mosquito committee said, was to determine how many kinds of mosquitoes are in this area, and whether any are of the malaria or other disease-carrying type.

The traps were used in Delaware county, Pa., where the mosquito nuisance became a serious problem and a commission was created several years ago to fight them and reduce breeding places in the marshlands of the Delaware river.

Today's heavy rain, on top of another rain on Sunday, was expected to relieve conditions in Rock creek, the committee said. The rain-fall, by raising the level of the water in the creek, was expected to "flush out" many of the stagnant pools which are breeding places for mosquitoes.

COUNTY SOLDIER LAUDED AT GAP

Indiantown Gap—Troops of the Pennsylvania National Guard got a good taste of combat action in the field Monday, complete with road hike and firing of small arms.

With only one day of actual field training out of the way, the seasoned war veterans and their rookie buddies were looking forward to the more spectacular highlight of artillery firing starting this morning.

Corps artillery units from Harrisburg, Waynesboro, Sunbury and Lock Haven were on the ranges, firing the carbine. The 104th Mechanized Cavalry Squadron, with headquarters in Harrisburg, fired the 45 caliber submachineguns, and 30 and 50 caliber machineguns at stationary and moving targets and the 45 caliber only at surprise targets that bobbed up in front.

Recruit Charles E. Comer, of York Springs R. 2, firing the 30 caliber machine gun for the first time, made a near perfect score of 207 points out of a possible 208. He was praised all-around by his commanding officers of Troop A, Gettysburg.

The first day's field training satisfied Brig. Gen. William S. Bailey, Harrisburg, commander of X Corps, who said it "indicates that careful and thorough preparation had been made by all while at their home armories."

Sunday night Troop C, Harrisburg, beat Troop A, Gettysburg, in a softball game, 8 to 6. Both are part of the 104th Mechanized Cavalry Reconnaissance Squadron. A cup will be awarded the troop champion after playoffs.

With the bathing season here, it may be more fun to see the peeling of the belles than to hear it.

SCHOOL BOARD WILL DISCUSS TRAFFIC LIGHT WITH COUNCIL

The board of directors of the Gettysburg joint school system, at a meeting Monday night at the high school, authorized the president, Dr. R. D. Wickerham, to take up with the highway committee of the borough council the question of changing the new traffic signal at Chambersburg street and Buford avenue.

The board protested the present "green arrow" light which allows west-bound traffic on Chambersburg street to proceed without stopping at the light, on the ground that school children will be endangered at the Meade school crossing about 200 feet farther west.

Motor vehicles, particularly large trucks, attain considerable speed as they turn from Chambersburg street into Buford avenue, it was alleged, and without a red light at the intersection there is a steady stream of traffic which does not give children an opportunity to safely cross the street, it was further pointed out.

Discuss School Census

Dr. Lloyd C. Keefeauver, supervising principal of the joint system, said a reply to a letter sent to the state highway department advised that the traffic signals are under control of borough authorities and that the question should be taken up with them.

The school enumeration report was discussed and Dr. Keefeauver reported that 156 beginners are expected to start school this fall in the jointure. They will be divided as follows: Gettysburg, 80; Cumberland township, 40; Straban township, 42; Freedom township, nine, and Highland township, five.

Repairs to school properties were also discussed and the property committee of the joint board was authorized to discuss with borough authorities the laying of a new sidewalk on the Springs avenue side of the Meade school and obtain prices.

Return Littlestown Check

A new curb will be laid and a six-foot walk constructed from the railroad crossing to a point near the entrance to the school, it was decided. The property committee was given power to act if the cost is within the budget.

The directors discussed the new state law which provides that motor vehicles must stop when a school bus stops to load or unload passengers, and also the matter of obtaining school bus stop signs, but no action was taken. The board said it did not know at this time how many signs would be needed, or their cost.

The board voted to return a check for tuition sent in by the Littlestown district, because the tuition of three pupils who moved from near Littlestown to Straban township had been deducted from the check. The amount deducted was $163.50. The Gettysburg board contended that the tuition should have been paid by the father of the pupils when he continued to have his children attend the Littlestown schools.

The treasurer's report showed a balance on June 9 of $45,088.02, and total receipts, including the balance, of $51,192.93. Expenditures were listed at $45,428.11, leaving a balance on July 7 of $5,764.82. The cafeteria report listed receipts of $1,183.34, including a balance of $196.77 on May 1, May and June deposits of $737.37 and $249.20 in accounts receivable. Expenditures were $801.42, leaving a balance July 8 of $381.92.

SOLDIER HELD IN FATAL SHOOTING

East Nassau, N. Y., July 12 (AP)—A military police corporal was held on a charge of second degree manslaughter today in the fatal shooting of a girl near a wrecked jet plane he was guarding.

The victim was 25-year-old Marion Anna Noreen of nearby Brainard, about 26 miles east of Albany. She was walking with her fiancé, Walter Martin, 26, of East Nassau, and Martin's stepister, Maude Shaw, 18, in a wooded area near the crash scene early last night.

The soldier, Cpl. Dallas Hilliard Thompson, 24, told authorities his revolver went off accidentally when he stumbled while running toward the woods after hearing voices there. He is from Empire, Calif.

The girl, who was to have married Martin in September, died in the office of Dr. Mason Schwartz at East Nassau, a few minutes after the shooting. She was taken there by Martin and Cpl. Thompson. She was shot in the neck.

Thompson, attached to the 1600th Air Fleet Squadron at Westover Field, Mass., was assigned with two other military police to patrol the area where the F-84 jet fighter crashed Saturday night. The pilot was killed.

State police said they were told the craft, from the 14th fighter group at Dow Field, Bangor, Me., carried live .50 calibre ammunition "dangerous to the public."

Troopers said no signs had been erected barring the area to civilians. They quoted Martin as saying none of the trio had seen any soldiers as they entered the area.

UNEMPLOYMENT NEAR 'AVERAGE'

New York, July 12 (AP)—Unemployment figures, like everything else, are reflecting the return to a normal buyers' market.

But unemployment, while on the increase recently, still is only slightly above average when viewed in the perspective of the last hundred years.

However, that's small comfort to the 3,778,000 persons pounding the pavements looking for work today. And it is little help to a community paralyzed when its biggest industry shuts down.

But the figures show that, even if the nation maintains a fairly prosperous economy with "full employment" in coming years, we can expect at least an average minimum unemployment of between 3,000,000 and 3,500,000.

That conclusion is based on a study by the Twentieth Century fund, which found that five per cent of the labor force under normal conditions are looking for work at any given time. The fund is a non-profit foundation conducting research on current economic problems.

Labor organizations and various federal government economists have predicted a possible rise in unemployment to around 5,000,000 this winter. That's above the five per cent line and gets into the emergency zone.

send reporters on a tour of Indonesia, visiting The Hague en route. Indonesia has been torn by war between the Dutch government and the Indonesian republic. "Complete freedom of action" had been promised those accepting the invitation.

Feared Sabotage

Two Americans originally in the party—Mrs. Dorothy Brandon of the New York Herald Tribune, and William R. Mathews, Tucson, Ariz., publisher—had decided not to return aboard the ill-fated constellation.

Mathews said on his arrival at Manila that Mrs. Brandon had refused to fly on the KLM aircraft because she feared it would be sabotaged. He quoted her as saying the plane would be "sabotaged as sure as your life." No evidence that the plane was sabotaged has been uncovered thus far.

The constellation was en route from Batavia to the Netherlands. It was due in Cairo tonight and Amsterdam tomorrow. KLM officials in New Delhi pointed out that the line never had served Bombay and its pilots were unfamiliar with the Bombay airport area.

Dutch planes had not been allowed to land in India since the conflict between the Dutch government and the Indonesian republic, but a special request from the American newsmen that the restriction be relaxed was approved by Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru.

The plane left Batavia, Java, July 10. The newsmen had been entertained last night in New Delhi by American Ambassador Loy Henderson. They left New Delhi for Santa Cruz early today. The plane was scheduled to arrive in Holland tomorrow.

At the New Delhi reception last night, some newsmen said they had made the request that the plane be allowed to land in India in order to avoid the long overwater hop to the island of Mauritius.

The plane which crashed today was named the Franeker. Another KLM constellation, the Roermond, took the American newsmen to Batavia. The Roermond crashed on its return trip to the Netherlands near Bari, Italy, on June 23. Thirty-three persons lost their lives in that crash.

June Drought May Curb Corn Crop

Harrisburg, July 12 (AP)—The June drought forced the state Agriculture Department to revise its 1949 estimates for corn, potatoes, tobacco and hay.

The department said initial production estimates for 1949 show a corn crop of 62,640,000 bushels, compared with 65,379,000 last year.

Potatoes are expected to yield 15-450,000 bushels, approximately 4-600,000 less than last year. Tobacco was listed at 55,880,000 pounds or 5,387,000 pounds under 1948. The hay crop, estimated at 2,994,600 tons, is about half a million tons under 1948.

However, a more pleasant situation was reported in 1949 fruit crop estimates.

The first federal-state prediction of the year on commercial apples is for a crop of 8,250,000 bushels against last year's 4,520,000. Cherries were estimated to bring 10,800 tons, more than 3,000 tons above average. Grapes were seen to be a crop of 16,900 tons, only 300 tons under 1948.

Brown Bull Blocks Firemen; Barn Burns

North Andover, Mass., July 12 (AP)—William A. Mazarinko and his large brown bull aren't speaking today—not after what happened this morning.

Fire broke out in the Mazarinko barn about dawn and Mazarinko called the fire department which rushed apparatus out to the farm—or almost to the farm.

The bull plainly didn't like red fire engines—he just planted himself in a narrow roadway and challenged the firemen to come on. They didn't.

Doubling as pleaders, the fire fighters armed themselves with pitchforks and drove the bull back into a field. The bull got loose and came back. The fire was getting worse. The firemen finally penned the bull in a nearby pasture. By that time the big, wooden barn was beyond saving.

ing and failure to stop at a signal of an officer.

The charges were filed by borough police before Squire Lippy. Harmon posted $500 bail for his appearance in court.

Harmon was fined $10 for operating a motor vehicle against traffic in a one-way alley and $50 for drunkenness and disorderly conduct in police court.

The accused was arrested by borough police about midnight Friday after police said his car sideswiped the police cruiser. Harmon, police said, was driving against traffic in a one-way thoroughfare.

After sideswiping the police cruiser, Harmon, police said, doused his lights, and left the scene of the accident.

He was confined in the borough jail until Saturday when he posted bond for his hearings Monday night.

The revamped Cola Rangers indicated they will cause plenty of trouble in future softball league games Monday evening by nosing out the Lentz Legion 4-3 in the opening game. About 500 fans turned out for the games.

A rally by the Lentz Legion in the final inning produced a run but fell one-run short of creating a tie. Little poked a homerun for the winners while Tawney smashed out a triple for the Legionnaires.

After spotting the Moose a 6-0 advantage in the first three innings, the VFW pounded over seven runs in the fourth frame and eventually won out 8-7 over the Moose in the late light tilt.

Tom McGlaughlin, VFW hurler, was the hitting star for the winners, pounding out a homerun with two runners aboard in the fourth and then singling home the winning tally with one out in the last of the final inning.

Jackie Robinson Stretches Lead

New York, July 12 (AP)—Jackie Robinson, Brooklyn's all-star second baseman, is pulling away from the pack in the National league batting race.

By boosting his total hits for the season to 111 during the past week, Robinson maintained his 362 average, according to figures including Sunday's games.

Next best is Pittsburgh's Ralph Kiner, the home run leader with 23, who is hitting .333. That gives Robinson a 29-point edge. Kiner moved into second place when Red Schoendienst, the St. Louis Cards' switch-hitting second baseman, dropped six points to .332.

Wally Westlake of Pittsburgh, only member of the National's top 10 hitters not chosen for today's all-star game, is eighth at .307, he's a point ahead of Peeewe Reese of Brooklyn at .306.

Enos Slaughter and Eddie Kazak, two St. Louis Cards, are tied for tenth at .302. Slaughter tumbled from seventh position by losing 11 points during the week.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

News from Camp Welcome: A jolly crowd of Gettysburgers have quite an extensive camp at "Black Hole," along Marsh Creek. The members of the camp are S. A. Troxel, wife and mother, Max Davis, wife and daughter, William Flemming and wife, D. Z. Stover, wife and daughter, Harry Holtzworth and wife, Misses Ida Shute, Edith Hamilton, Mary and Virgie Shafer, Mary Menchey, Freda Braunreuter, Nora
Shearer, Messrs. Ira Plank, Chas.
Shearer, Harry Gintling, Clyde Mumper, David Menchey, Edward Mumper, Will Shearer, Harry and George Steinhour, G. Minter, Elmer Bupp and wife, and Abe Trattner, of York.

The camp is being delightfully entertained by Prof. Troxell's orchestra.

About 150 visitors called on Sunday and enjoyed themselves.

Monday night the grounds were beautifully decorated with Japanese lanterns and they had a pleasant dance.

Local Miscellany: The Fourth of July passed off pleasantly in this place with no serious accidents.
From early on Monday (July 3) until late Tuesday night the "bombs bursting in the air" and other things reminded us of the glorious anniversary. The day was spent by most of our people in the many delightful, shady nooks near here or at Pen Mar, where it is estimated that there were over 6,000 persons from all points. The W. M. was compelled to borrow several coaches from the P. & R.R. in order to handle the crowd.

Seventy-eight people left town for Baltimore yesterday morning on the excursion.

Dr. J. W. C. O'Neal has purchased the house on Baltimore street owned by Samuel M. Marshall, now occupied by the Misses Gilliland.

Marriages: Donohue-Kemper —
June 22, at the home of John Kemper, by Rev. Cyrus E. Held, James V. Donohue, of Menallen, to Miss Nora Grace Kemper, of Straban township.

A Big Business Deal: The sensation in business circles last Friday, was the sale of the lumber and coal business of Harry P. Buehler to J.
Oliver Blocher and G. Wilmer Koser.
With the sale of the business was included the large three-story brick building on the corner of Carlisle and Railroad streets, the warehouse occupied by J. O. Blocher, the tinshop occupied by Buehler & Brown and all the land from the corner of the streets named, to the alley on the north side of the Blocher warehouse and the alley on the east side of the lumber yard.

Blocher and Koser took possession on Saturday morning. It is understood that the agency of the Adams Express Company will be acquired by the new firm.

Col. C. H. Buehler conducted the coal and lumber business there since sometime before the war, up until the time of his death, when his son, H. F. Buehler, took charge.

Adams County Boy Dies at Puerto Rico: Curtis D. Chronister, son of Mrs. Susan Chronister, of Hampton, died at Puerto Rico, on June 16th, aged 24 years. The cause of his death was abscess of the liver.

The Forty-fourth Annual Convention: Promptly at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon (July 4) President Mackey called the State School Teachers' Convention to order. The devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. Dr. Eli Huber. The address of welcome was delivered by Rev.
Dr. H. W. McKnight. Hon. J. Q.
Stewart, Deputy Superintendent of Public Instruction, replied to the address of welcome in a fitting speech in which he reviewed the work of the Association since it last met here in '66.

After the audience joined in singing "America," Miss Spangler, of Arendtsville, sang a solo.

A patriotic address was delivered by Hon. Marriott Broslus, of Lancaster, Representative from the 10th Congressional District in Congress.

Today's Talk

CONFIDENCE

We hear a great deal about confidence, but we sidestep it too much.
If we have confidence in ourselves we can accomplish anything for which we are capable. We have "bad times" and depressions largely because people lose confidence in the country, or in public officials. When confidence is restored, good times arrive!

We take a train, or an ocean liner, and think nothing of danger because we have confidence in the engineer and his helpers, as well as in the Captain of a boat and his crew. Fear, and it is all too often needless, is the one great enemy of confidence.

When we have confidence in a friend, we can both overlook many a frailty and forgive many a fault.
Confidence and faith are what make up a solid friendship. They do all the big jobs in the world, as well.
People buy from firms and institutions whose character is known, and in whom they have confidence. One of life's great tragedies is to lose confidence in a friend.

Free institutions will continue to live, and spread their benefits, just so long as the people have confidence in them. We put ourselves in the hands of a physician in whom we have confidence—and often his words are the best medicine that he uses in restoring confidence in ourselves. We may only be ailing in mind and heart. How very great and welcomed is that one who will help us restore this confidence!

In early days the old Town Crier went through the streets of a town ringing his bell or crying "All's Well!" We ought to heed an invisible crier of "All's Well," every time we awake to a new day. That would give us confidence and make the day a successful one.

To enter into all work with a confident air is most important. We then do our best work and take pride in it. That's what contributes to personal happiness and continual progress. That dog of yours loves you because he has confidence in you.
Do not give him disappointment!

Enter each day with a confident air and you will go far and people will welcome your presence at all times. Confident people are the salt of the earth.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Letters."

DREAMING BOY

A pair of eyes and a shock of hair.
And a grin that is good to view;
But what's going on in that young mind there,
I fancy you wish you knew.

A freckled nose and a dimpled cheek
And a curious stare at you;
With many a thought which he doesn't speak,
I fancy you wish you knew.

What is he dreaming of, dawdling
there,
One stocking off and shoe,
And those big wide eyes with a wondering stare?
How often you wish you knew.

There's more in a boy that the eyes can see
And more than he tells you,
too,
But how best to counsel the man to be,
I'm certain you wish you knew.

MONEY TROUBLE OF ENGLAND IS "DEEP ROOTED"

By JAMES D. WHITE

(AP Foreign News Analyst)
(For Dewitt Mackenzie)

One of the big reasons for Britain's money trouble goes far deeper than dollars.

This is the fact that Britain's place in the scheme of world business can never be what it used to be.
Under the right conditions it might be as great, but never the same.

In the old days the sun never set on the British empire. Britain's colonist sons made deals that gave the mother country the world's highest living standard at the time.
This is no longer possible now that the empire is changing into a union of equal partner-nations.

One of Britain's profitable operations under the old system was to buy raw materials in the lands her armed forces held. These raw materials were taken to England and made into finished consumer goods.
These consumer goods were shipped back to the colonies and sold to the "natives."

Saw Future Change

This worked until the "natives" began making their own goods and getting fresh new ideas about running their own show generally.
There came a time when the cost of keeping some colonies in that condition outran the predictable return.

As a people, the British never got so nearsighted while clipping coupons from colonial investments that they couldn't read the handwriting on the wall. They led all colonial powers in thinking up a civilized way to avoid the explosion that could have taken place if the colonial world had got a flat "no" to its demand for freedom.

Transforming an empire of subservient colonies into a commonwealth of equal partners is one of the major political feats of history.
It isn't finished yet, but is well on its way and the British are largely responsible.

No Economic Colonies

Britain had to tackle the delicate part of this just as she emerged exhausted from World War II and faced a postwar world that had turned to other suppliers. Some of her own dependencies, to whom she now owed money for the war, were buying elsewhere.

Within the framework of the new commonwealth, she has tried to rebuild her trade with these areas, and has partly succeeded. But the basic fact is that they are no longer economic colonies in the old sense.

Puebla, Mexico, July 12 (AP) — George Houston, 66-year-old former president of Baldwin locomotive works, was one of three Americans killed in an automobile accident 100

Police at Texiutlan said the two other persons killed when the car struck a parked truck were Cole Bruner and his wife. Bruner was an employee of a canning factory owned by Houston and John McGilway.
He had lived in Mexico most of his

Boy, 6, Drowns In Water In Barrel

Conshohocken, Pa., July 12 (AP)—
Falling head first into a barrel, Francis Vermuth, 6, drowned in less than 10 inches of water in the yard of his home here while a younger brother played nearby.

Coroner W. J. Rushong said the boy apparently fell into the barrel to get one. Velde will back Nixon.

An old-fashioned political scrap could result that would give a new twist to the celebrated Hiss-Chambers case—a case that so far has featured charges of espionage and perjury.

Democrats have shown few signs of letting the two young members of the House Un-American Activities committee get an investigation started. And they would have to have some Democratic help.

Kaufman is a Democrat appointed by President Truman. He is a federal district judge in the southern New York district. The Hiss case was his first big one.

yesterday after he climbed to its top and tried to fill a sprinkling can he was unable to water a truck patch.
The boy's body was found wedged head down in the barrel. The boy's mother, Mrs. Anna Vermuth, said she made the discovery when she became worried when she failed to hear sounds of play from Francis and his brother, Arthur, 2, in the yard.

full swing between 1860 and 1870.

POLICY TALK IS GIVEN BY TITO; IS SEEKING LOAN

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, July 12 (AP)—Premier Marshal Tito Sunday night said Yugoslavia plans to seal its border with Greece. He said the object would be to protect Yugoslavs from the Greek civil war.

Tito spoke Sunday night before an estimated 40,000 people in the Adriatic port city of Pola, taken over from Italy at the end of the war. The text of his address was made public here Monday morning.

The major policy speech, first by the Yugoslav leader since April, ranged over a wide variety of topics. Included were the Greek border situation, negotiations for a loan from the west, the economic boycott started by the Cominform nations, progress of Yugoslavia's five-year plan, the future of Trieste and the big four's rejection of his claims to Austrian Carinthia.

Must Close Frontier
Of the Greek situation, Tito said it has come to this: that we must gradually close this frontier and safeguard the lives of our workingmen in this part of our country. (Western diplomats had speculated recently that Tito might cut off aid to the Greek guerrillas as retaliation for the economic war being waged against him by the Communist nations of eastern Europe.)

The Yugoslav leader accused Greek "Monarcho-Fascists" of provocations and called on "America and England to take these provocations seriously and put an end to this." The Yugoslavs have said Greek troops crossed their border on several occasions.

In the face of the economic blockade laid down by the Cominform (Communist International Information Bureau), Tito admitted frankly he was seeking a loan from the west.

He emphasized such a loan must be given without political concessions. He said the world knows Yugoslavia sells copper "and that we do not sell our conscience and our souls but copper alone."

GAS LEVY NOT CUTTING TRAVEL

Harrisburg, July 12 (AP)—Pennsylvania's new additional one-cent tax on gasoline has failed to dampen motorists' urge to use the highways, says Gov. James H. Duff.

If that's a good indicator, the Governor said, the increase to five cents a gallon hasn't harmed the state's gasoline industry. He cited as an example traffic on the Pennsylvania turnpike for the first five days in July. He said figures showed a 17.2 per cent jump over the same period last year.

"And I think the index on the turnpike is a pretty fair comparison of traffic volume," Duff added. "However, he said, it is too early to determine accurately whether the June 1 increase has caused a decline in gasoline consumption in the commonwealth."

Oil companies have 30 days to file their June sales reports and only one or two small companies have so far reported to the state Revenue Department. Duff said these early reports show an "excess" in sales over June of last year.

The increase raised the overall commonwealth gasoline tax from four to five cents on June 1. The General Assembly boosted the tax at the recommendation of the Governor to provide an additional $40,000,000 for new road construction in the next two years.

The United States makes and uses an average of 26 billion tin cans a year.

BORN of the STORM

By Sidney B. Carter

Chapter 1
It was a beautiful morning for a wedding. Priscilla stirred drowsily in her bed and turned over, trying to keep from waking up.

"Priscilla!" She heard her mother's voice and knew that the process of waking up could be delayed no longer. She would have to go downstairs and help with the preparations for the wedding. That meant facing things.

As long as she could remember, Priscilla had liked weddings—perhaps because she herself had longed so much to be a bride. She had imagined herself walking slowly beside Dennis to the stately strains of Lohengrin. How often in her daydreams she had followed every detail of the ceremony! Today she would be part of a wedding, but not as a bride. Today—and the thought gave her no pleasure—she would be her sister's maid of honor.

James, the bridegroom, was stockily built and moonfaced, with a false smile and too-friendly expression. Priscilla disliked him. However, he seemed to suit Lorraine and she was the one who was marrying him.

Then, unaccountably and to her own surprise, she burst into nervous tears. A moment later she had flung herself across the bed. She sobbed uncontrollably.

Oh, Dennis, Dennis, why did you go away and leave me? Other men went away to war, but they came back. Lorraine's man came back. Today Lorraine will be a bride, while I . . . Dennis.

Priscilla must have spoken the last anguished word aloud, for she looked up to see a startled expression on her mother's face as she stood in the doorway. "Why, Priscilla," said Mrs. Hayden, her tone no more acid than usual, "you should be dressed. Lorraine is . . . Lorraine is Mother's perfect daughter and on her wedding day she will be even more perfect, if possible, in Mother's eyes."

"Really, Priscilla," exclaimed her mother in the voice reserved for her second daughter, "you're 17 now. You're not a child any longer, or rather you shouldn't be. Now you get yourself dressed in five minutes or you'll hear from your father."

Priscilla slipped the dress over her head and stood in front of the long mirror. She was tall and her figure filled out the dress in the right places. Her hair was a golden shade darker than the curls of her childhood and her eyes were a magnetic blue. She made a charming picture standing there, her full skirt swaying slightly in the mild June breeze that came in at the window, the sunlight spilling gold into her thick, wavy hair. What's the matter with me? Why isn't this my wedding day?

As Priscilla joined her father, Lorraine, and little Drusie at the top of the staircase, she heard the opening strains of "Oh, Promise Me." That would be Nancy at the piano and, in a moment, Gertrude would begin to sing. And then her mother, standing among the guests grouped in the living room, would undoubtedly begin to cry over the loss of her favorite daughter, an idiotic procedure, Priscilla thought, since James and Lorraine were going to live there.

As Priscilla joined her father, Lorraine, and little Drusie at the top of the staircase, she heard the opening strains of "Oh, Promise Me." That would be Nancy at the piano and, in a moment, Gertrude would begin to sing. And then her mother, standing among the guests grouped in the living room, would undoubtedly begin to cry over the loss of her favorite daughter, an idiotic procedure, Priscilla thought, since James and Lorraine were going to live there.

The girl in pink is Priscilla. Oh, no, she's not the bride. Priscilla is the girl Dennis Drummond jilted. They were dancing together in the living room . . . no one else was around . . . they were in a world apart . . . he so handsome in his lieutenant's uniform . . . she with her bright hair against his shoulder . . . sweet music sending them . . . Suddenly the radio was snapped off. Dennis had released her. Priscilla looked up at him in surprise.

"We're not going to dance any more," he said, and his voice was not gentle, the way she had remembered it.

Priscilla saw with sudden clarity, then, the lines around his mouth. They were lines of pain. Poor Dennis, she thought with pity, he's been wounded and he's been suffering a great deal. Now he's got to go back to the army hospital and have another operation if he's to get full use of his hand and again. But he was speaking to her. She could not believe what she heard.

"Priscilla, you're only 17. You're sweet and young and I wouldn't have you any other way." His voice was tortured. "But . . . well, there are some things I can't explain to you . . . You've never killed anybody . . . and I have. I've got to get over this feeling of guilt I have about it. No matter how I reasoned I never seemed to get used to it."

Priscilla listened with her heart. She wanted so much to help him, but the fear she had been repressing came forward with intensity. She could not, she knew, help him in this.

"Dennis!" Her voice broke. "Can't I help you? What good will it do for you to go away from me?"

He turned and looked down at her for a moment. "I'm restless," he said. "I can't settle down. I wouldn't make a good husband now." Seeing the frightened helplessness in her eyes, he spoke more gently. "These things," he said, "are born of the storm. I pray you may never feel the brunt of such a storm as that."

She felt his kiss upon her forehead and through a blur of desolate tears she saw him go.

The light, reminding touch of her father's hand on her arm startled Priscilla. Oh, yes, it was Lorraine's wedding day. Remember, Dad paid through the nose for this . . . this show.

Priscilla came down the steps like a queen toward the waiting wedding guests and moved to her place at one side of the improvised altar. Lorraine, Priscilla's small, stocky, less-attractive older sister, was coming toward them. Lorraine wore bridal white and moved slowly, if not gracefully, beside her father who would give her away.

Mr. Hayden stepped back a few paces from the altar and let the moonfaced James take his place. The long cadences of the double-ring ceremony began . . . Do you, James, take Lorraine . . .

Priscilla wanted to scream.

Harrisburg, July 12 (AP)—The Pennsylvania state police automobile driver examination station in Harrisburg will move to a new location here July 14.

The new station will be located at a new driving range near 20th and Herr street, off Route 22. The present location is at the State Arsenal, 18th and Herr street.

SUSPEND RATE INCREASES BY TWO UTILITIES

Harrisburg, July 12 (AP)—Two major Pennsylvania utilities today had new three-months' suspensions for their proposed rate increases.

The Public Utility Commission late yesterday suspended the proposed $25,000,000 rate increase of the Bell Telephone company of Pennsylvania to Oct. 21.

At the same time, the commission also put off a $6,601,000 a year boost of the Philadelphia Transportation company for a similar period to Oct. 21.

Both increases have been bitterly opposed by consumer groups and are the subjects of commission investigations into their reasonableness.

Second Suspension

The telephone company originally filed the new tariff to become effective January 21. The PUC, however, suspended the increase for six months to July 21, pending its investigation. The commission's second suspension of the Bell rate boost came on the eve of the close of an exhaustive inquiry. Final witnesses were to be called late today at the hearings.

The PUC members voted unanimously for the new phone suspension. It gave no reason for its action, but a spokesman said the move was necessary to give commission experts time to study testimony. The spokesman emphasized that under PUC regulations, the commission is not obliged to wait the full three months to issue a decision. It may come at any time.

Bell estimated its proposed new rates will provide a 16 per cent increase in revenues and about $14,500,000 after taxes. It said the boost

SIX DROWNINGS IN THIS STATE OVER WEEK-END

(By The Associated Press)

Six of the 11 accidental deaths reported in Pennsylvania over the week-end were drownings, four of them in the Erie area.

A sudden squall on Lake Erie Saturday cost the lives of three persons as two small motor boats were capsized a mile and a half off-shore. Five other persons were rescued.

Dead are Mrs. Florence Getchell, 30-year-old bride of a week, Hanna Haas, 46, and her nephew, Robert Wagenknecht, 20, all of Erie.

The party had rented the boats for all-night fishing. Survivors clung to the overturned boats for more than six hours before they were rescued.

Find Boy's Body

Mrs. Edith Ryan, 19-year-old mother of two small children, stepped off a rock into a deep spot in Raccoon Creek and drowned near Monaca Sunday. She had been on a picnic.

The body of William W. Wurst, 22, of Erie, was recovered Saturday by Coast Guardsmen in Presque Isle Bay. Coroner Warren W. Wood said Wurst was last seen Friday night when he left home saying he was going for a swim to cool off.

Harry McCarthy, 6, of Philadelphia, drowned Saturday in Silver Lake, Bristol township. An uncle, Henry Mydruk of Bristol, said he left the lad wading in the lake while he went to a refreshment stand. On Mydruk's return, the boy's body was floating on the water.

Brocco Tucl, 35, of Youngwood, was killed Saturday in an automobile which collided with a suburban trolley at a crossing.

Walter A. Alsing, 50, Rochester, Pa., was killed by an automobile Sunday while walking along the Monaca-Aliquippa boulevard.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Sir:

I could not read such an article as the one that appeared in The Times, Saturday, July 2nd without making an effort to answer it. Though he entitled his article "Let's Get This Straight," Mr. Leighton C. Taylor missed getting it straight by a long way.

Anyone who is interested, and everyone should be, can easily settle the question of whether America is a Democracy or a Republic by looking up the definition of each in any dictionary. The following definitions are from Webster's Collegiate Dictionary, fifth edition:

DEMOCRACY . . . 1. A state in which the sovereign power is retained by the people and exercised either directly (absolute, or pure democracy), or indirectly (representative democracy) through a system of representation. 2. A community or state so governed.

REPUBLIC . . . A state in which the sovereign power resides in a certain body of the people (the electorate) and is exercised by representatives, elected by, and responsible to, them; also, the form of government of such a state.

The bracketed words are this writer's and are commented upon in a later paragraph.

Mr. Taylor cites Aristotle, Plato, Seneca, Montesquieu, and Rousseau in an effort to prove that "democracies . . . are not only impracticable and unworkable, but also lend themselves to political disorders and confusion." Mr. Taylor could have cited thousands of others, including George III of England and Louis XVI of France.

I submit that such speculative philosophies as Mr. Taylor named were hardly competent to pass final judgment on a system of government that, until after their respective eras, had never been tried in any large community of the western world. America tried it and we have a proud history to show that it can work. Therein is America's strength, the courage to take the philosophies of men and translate them into the action of a nation. That mistakes have been made only a fool could deny. But the solid gains that have been made, the contributions to ourselves and to all mankind, have been made by a free and unfettered people, a democratic people.

I am not aware that "political disorder and confusion" are peculiar to a democracy. Athens and Rome were Republics during a part of each of their respective histories, yet even a cursory study of them will show that both were frequently troubled by "political disorder and confusion," including many wars, and that each degenerated into a dictatorship.

As for Mr. Taylor's ipse dixit that "Democracy unrestrained, has always led to mob rule, to the destruction of minority opinion, (how about the Alien and Sedition Act during our early Republic?) to the death of individual liberty, to dictatorship, and to war," only my innate piety and the inflammability of paper restrain me from answering as that question deserves.

Mr. Taylor quotes James Madison to prove that the founding fathers intended this country to be a Republic. That is true and so it became. If the reader will look back to the italicized words in the definition of a Republic and will then remember how limited the electorate was in the first years of the nation, he will be forced to agree that it was indeed a Republic, for the supreme power resided in a certain body of the people. At that time an entire race was denied the vote no woman could vote (though the ones who owned property were allowed to pay taxes), men owning less than a certain amount of property could not vote, and debtors could not vote. These are some who were denied the vote when this nation was a Republic.

If the siren song of Mr. Taylor's words has started a longing for a return to a Republic, think first, gentle reader, how many could be disenfranchised if a certain type of man gained the power to do so, and ask yourself if it would still be a government of the people, by the people, and for the people. Self-interest is the prime motivation of most human actions, and it is foolish to assume that the chosen few would legislate for the good of the many in all, or even many, instances.

Mr. Taylor goes on: "Prior to 1913, as is well known, Senators were elected by State Legislators, and it is now generally conceded that this latter method gave us, on the average, a higher and abler type of legislator." Generalities are always dangerous. Mr. Taylor says that it is "generally conceded" etc. (by whom?) That would be impossible to prove without a "Super-Gallup Poll," and being so, is a foolish statement. For each support of that contention there is at least one denial. History records the acts of only those men who do something outstanding for good or for evil. Think how many have sat in both Houses of Congress. Look in all the history books you can find and see how many legislators are mentioned as having been at all noteworthy.

Compare the percentage of the total the latter represent with the relative percentages of the last three decades and see how close they are. For every Randolph, Adams, Clay, Webster, or Benton, there are thousands who are forgotten. One cannot regard such men as Senator Vandenberg, among others as exceptions to a rule.

With regard to Mr. Taylor's parable about a "candidate for congress in a recent election" and the conclusion he draws therefrom, it is not the fault of our democratic system that inept men are elected after campaigns conducted along the lines of a confidence game. Rather, it is the fault of the people, whose apathy toward what should be their primary interest makes it possible for such candidates to be elected, when less than fifty per cent of the eligible electorate exercises its right to vote. And it is also the fault of those who are potentially the "higher and able type of legislator" but who refuse to offer their services.

Another of Mr. Taylor's syllogisms fails to syllogize when he says the primary system is the outgrowth of our trend toward democracy and socialism. Democracy, yes; socialism, no. Mr. Taylor, Socialism, despite the cant of its disciples, is one of the forms of government that concentrates power in the hands of the few, and will eventually lead back to the limited electorate. The people are capable of halting our present odious trend toward socialism only by exercising their right to vote in the primary and general elections, and that is the democratic way.

Mr. Taylor wandered far afield trying to answer his question "Are We a Democracy or a Republic?" The answer is still best to be found in the definitions of the two words. The ills of our country are not the result of Democracy's not working. We suffer them because all the people have never tried to make Democracy work to its fullest capacity.

Sincerely,
Wallace R. Coddington

"We endeavor to make more real the religious life of the people who look to us for leadership.

"Our problems are many and our tasks are stupendous, as we endeavor to train the child to walk in the paths of righteousness, to bring the wayward to a sense of duty to almighty God, to train leaders of all age groups for a life of service, to inspire the discouraged and awaken within them a new and abiding hope; to send spiritual and material relief to the poverty stricken in soul and body throughout the whole world.

"There can be no doubt in the mind of anyone who has given any thought to the education of youth, that religious education exerts a profound influence upon our national life.

"This education training and leading of the youth in Sunday Schools, Bible Schools, the family circle and in other types of training in religious institutions, develops in these future citizens a sense of the spiritual values that determine all future life relationships.

"Not too much encouragement can be given to the building of these sound religious institutions and to their maintenance. It is playing a part that is very important to the future of our country and of all mankind. The effect of moral and religious training cannot be discounted nor can there be any belittling of the need for greater moral and religious training.

"I am sure that if we can continue to function in our several capacities, as a sympathetic and cooperative press and as sincere church members and leaders, we cannot but rise to new heights of achievement and God will richly bless us as citizens of the great county of Adams."

George Matthew Adams, who writes a daily editorial for The Gettysburg Times, writes as follows about YOUR NEWS-PAPER:

Wendell Phillips once stated that the power of the press, in influence, led all other institutions. This can hardly be disputed. Scarcely had the American Colonies become independent than the first newspaper was established. Benjamin Franklin recognized this fact and established one of the very first.

I was recently a guest at the celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of the London, Ontario, Free Press, one of the finest of all the Canadian newspapers. A few years ago I was present in the same capacity, at the one hundredth celebration of the Detroit Free Press; and there are many other newspapers on this continent that have reached this fine age of usefulness, and even beyond. On a wall of my office hangs the first edition of the New York Sun, established in 1833—and a great newspaper to this day.

In no countries in the world are more fine examples of public servants than the newspapers that serve the people of the United States and Canada. More than ever these publications serve the public good and are highly educational. Not only do they give the news from all over the world, but they entertain and instruct, and are one of the greatest of agencies in better-

If they were not they would not exist for long. And these newspapers today are freer than at any time in history, regardless of what is said to the contrary.

People once thought that the radio would harm the newspaper but it hasn't. Both have been helpful to each other. Neither will television harm your newspaper. It will help it. You can sit silently in your home and read your newspaper—and think and learn. And you are in contact with the best brains in the world. Wherever I go my favorite newspaper follows!

Baltimore Livestock

CATTLE—No comparison of receipts can be made with a week ago today as the markets were all closed last Monday in observance of Independence Day. However, fresh arrivals at the Baltimore market formed only about 55 per cent of the number marketed the same day last year. Slaughter receipts at the Baltimore yards included approximately 150 head held from last week in addition to the estimated 1,100 fresh arrivals.

Today's run included the equivalent of 8 loads of fed steers, 22 loads of grassed on the grass and grass fat steers and 6 loads of stock cattle. Heifers were in relatively light supply.

Trading in steers was rather slow early but was more active later. Grained steers sold on a generally fully steady basis compared with last Thursday's offerings on the strong side. Grassers cleared slowly at weak prices. Over 1,100-lb. kinds met the narrowest market at $22.50 and a few odd still in first hands at 1 p. m. A few odd head and small lots of high-grade and choice $26-28.50-lb. steers brought $27.50-28.50. Bulk of the average-medium and good $26-28.50-lb. steers scored $24.50-27.50, common to average-medium, $20-25.

The heifer supply was made up largely of odd head and small lot shipments. Prices showed little net change. The run was comprised mainly of common and medium grade offerings that spread of $19-23.50. Odd culler heifers dropped to $18.

Medium and good cows met a fairly broad demand but others cleared slowly. Prices ruled steady to 50c higher, spots up $1. Most of the advance was on medium and good grades. Odd head high-grade cows on the heifer order sold upward to $21 and $21.50, but bulk of the good grades averaged $18.50-20.75. Common and medium cows bulked at $16-18, and canners and cullers sold mainly at $15-15.50; odd shelly canners dropped to $12 and below.

The selling level for bulls was 50c to $1 higher than Thursday. Top for good slaughter steers was $22.50, bulk $20-25. A few common and medium, $17-18.50. An individual good beef bull brought $24.

Trading was very slow in the stock cattle but prices held about steady. Medium and good 500-600-lb. stocker and feeder steers bulked at $22-24.75; several of the inferior 550-650-lb. weights, $19.25-21.50.

CALVES—Good and choice calves met a fairly active trade after very slow start. The top was $1 higher but otherwise prices were little changed compared with last week's close and except for good and choice 500-600-lb. weights, offerings cleared slowly. Bulk of the good and choice vealers brought $22-26, top $26. Common and medium brought $17-22 in most cases, and culls ranged $13-17.

HOGS—Trading in the hog division was fairly active after a slow start. Barrows and gilt scaling less than 200 lbs. sold mostly 25c higher than last Friday; heavier weights and sows weighing less than 400 lbs. were steady while over 400-lb. sows were 25-50c lower with the full dress decline noted on over 450-lb. sows. A few scattered lots of good and choice 150-lb. barrows and gilts topped at $23.25; bulk of these weights along with a double deck of rail-sliced offerings brought $23, a few sales $23.75. Heavier weights in the 200-300-lb. bracket brought $22.25-22.75; 260-300 lbs., $21-22; 300-400 lbs., $18.50-19.75; over 400 lbs., $18.25 down. Lighter weights in the 120-140-lb. class scaled at $20-20.25; 140-160 lbs., $21.75-22; 160-180 lbs., $22.50-22.75. Good and choice under 400-lb. sows brought $18.75 to mostly $17 but odd head 200-300-lb. weights sold upward to $18; good 400-450 lbs. $15.25-15.50; over 450 lbs., $14 down. Odd stage sold $2 under the price paid for the same weight sows and the few lots of garbage fed hogs on offer were discounted $1.50-3 from the price of the same weight grain-fed.

SHEEP—Good and choice spring lambs met a broad demand in opening rounds but cleared slowly late. Today's supply was the largest single day's run since July 7, 1947. Sales were unevenly $1-1.50 higher than last Thursday. Bulk of the good and choice 61-100-lb. spring lambs brought $24-27, top $27. Heavily fleecy, medium and good, $22-24; few common $18. Shorn ewes were relatively scarce and bulk steady. Choice were absent but quoted to $5; odd lots cull and common, ranged $5-7.

Give Promise Of Excise Tax Cuts

Washington, July 12 (AP)—The promise of excise tax cuts in 1950—along with new cushions against losses—was held out to business today by Congress.

This was one of the first tangible reactions as lawmakers surveyed President Truman's 11-point beat-the-depression program.

There was evidence that only part of it could be put into effect before a pre-Labor Day adjournment this year. However, a leading Republican, Rep. Joe Martin of Massachusetts, said that he agrees with Mr. Truman that within a few years the country can achieve a national output of $300,000,000,000 a year. This is a fifth more than the present annual rate.

Chairman Doughton (D-N. C.) of the House Ways and Means committee joined with Chairman George (D-Ga.) of the Senate Finance committee in promising relief next year from some of the heavy wartime taxes. These have applied to a long range of items from furs to face powder

"IF" BIG WORD IN AMERICAN ECONOMY NOW

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, July 12 (AP)—"If" is the big word in where we are heading, up or down.

The American economy is still at high speed, but it's sliding down hill. Compare today with a year ago: Unemployment — Almost 4,000,000, about double what it was a year ago; production — running 13 per cent less; corporation profits — around 13 per cent less; farm income — down 8 per cent.

Will it get better? Worse? Will we tumble into a depression?

Some of the top economists can't give a flat "yes" or "no" answer. When you cut through all their big words, the main point is "if."

Suggest Some Remedies

They think things will get better — after a little more sliding down — if business, labor, consumers and the government do certain things.

They suggest some remedies and — if — the country follows the prescription, then things ought to level off and be all right again. This was made clear yesterday in two big and important reports by four outstanding economists.

One was by President Truman's three-man council of economic advisers. They work for the government.

The other was by Robert Nathan, hired by the CIO to make a special report on what's happening. When he worked for the government a few years ago, he was one of its most important economists.

125 Long-Winded Pages

The President's council took 125 long-winded pages to state their case. In much tighter prose, Nathan took 50 pages. But when economists handle the language, you have to use tweezers to take it apart.

The President's three-man council said: "There is considerable possibility that present adjustments will lead, after some further declines this summer, to an increase in production." (Things will get worse before they get better, if they get better.)

They went on: "But there is still reason for real concern that the

MORE WORKERS JOIN WALKOUT IN LONDON PORT

By HAL COOPER

London, July 12 (AP)—Defiant dockers by the hundreds joined a wildcat walkout today as the British government seized the strike-crippled port of London.

The cabinet assumed virtual wartime powers to break up the stoppage officially blamed on Communist agitation. The army and navy sent 2,380 soldiers and sailors to the wharves to unload food.

But the strikers, who numbered 10,222 yesterday, were joined by another 2,728 men today. Fewer than 13,000 of the 25,000 who make up the London dock force reported for work.

127 Ships Idle

The National Dock Labor board said 127 ships were idle and eight undermanned.

Mounted policemen were ordered into the Thames waterfront area to enforce a state of near martial law.

Strikers showed resentment as the government took over dockland under the emergency act of 1920. Many who had stayed on the job ever since the unofficial strike began June 27 walked off after a series of meetings at the various dock gates this morning.

Port Seizure Near

Meanwhile the cabinet picked an emergency committee to run the docks for the government while the state of emergency, proclaimed yesterday, continues.

Actual seizure of the port will not come until a committee has been set up to run the miles of docks under 19 emergency regulations.

Transport Minister Alfred Barnes was ready to appoint the committee some time today. It will consist of three to five members, none in the government.

Poultry Pointers

By FREDERICK BLOCK

Most spring hatched chicks will soon be ready and housed for laying. One should not overlook the danger of external as well as internal parasites. The most common external parasites are mites and lice, (about internal ones next week); both pests do not only annoy their host, the chicken, but by draining of blood they weaken the bird's resistance, which may either lead to sickness or to loss of egg production.

To Eradicate Mites: Remove all trash, boxes and boards around the poultry yard and house; remove the litter and nest material and burn it! Then apply creosote, paint or power, spray the perches, and also the spaces where the perches are attached to the wall. Make certain that the material infiltrates all cracks and crevices. (Whitewash often recommended is not satisfactory.)

The chicken lice can be best controlled by using sodium fluoride, which is commercially available in white powder form, 90-95% strong. "It can be mixed at the rate of 1 part to 2 parts of flour or road dust. Two people are needed for the application, for one has to hold the bird, and the other one pinches the powder under the wings, around the vent, on the neck, the head, present slack may take a more serious recessionary turn, or not be succeeded by an expansion to satisfactory levels of employment and production." (In fact, things may not get better at all, but get much worse.)

Nothing Definite

They continued: "Consequently, it is necessary to approach the situation with positive and constructive measures, rather than to assume that the recuperative factors at work are adequate in themselves." (If we want things to get better, we'd better do something to make them better. Letting nature take its course won't help.)

But to show they're really optimistic, after all, the three-man council says they "find the prospect reassuring."

Nathan, who gets to his point a lot faster, says that "business will get worse before it gets better seems beyond dispute."

How much worse? That, Nathan says, is a "moot question." But he adds: "There are no firm indications that a major depression is imminent nor that a definite upturn is in prospect within the next few months."

breast, each thigh and tail. Sodium

Fluoride internally taken is poisonous for human beings and the birds, and also irritates the eyes of the operator and the bird, therefore, the chicken should be released into fresh air immediately after application, and the operator ought to wear a piece of wet cloth over his mouth and nose while treating the birds. One pound of Sodium Fluoride takes care of 100 birds, half a pound ought to be sufficient per 100 at larger operations.

Nicotine Sulphate often recommended applied to the perches will kill many lice, but can not "take care" of those lice around the head; also usually not all birds roost on the treated perches.

Lift Surveillance Of Russian Boat

Philadelphia, July 12 (AP)—The Federal government has relaxed its surveillance of a Soviet freighter—first put in effect and then called off for no announced reason.

A Coast Guard boat had circled the Dmitry Donskoy for two days after the vessel reached here from New York. Yesterday, the Coast Guard boat was suddenly returned to its base at Gloucester, N. J.

No official reason had been given for the attention paid the Dmitry Donskoy but some sources expressed the opinion it was to prevent any possible attempt by Valentin Gubitchev, Soviet engineer held on espionage charges, from stowing away on the ship.

Despite this report, however, Gubitchev appeared in a New York courtroom yesterday for argument on motions in his trial on the espionage charges. Trial was set for Oct. 17.

Wilmington, Del., July 12 (AP)—The government's anti-trust suit against E. I. du Pont de Nemours is an attack on "bigness in business," says the president of that company.

In a letter to 100,000 Du Pont stockholders and thousands of Du Pont employees and customers, Crawford H. Greenwalt yesterday denied the firm's transactions have ever been "illegal or improper in any sense."

He contended that victory in World War II could not have been won "without your company and others like it."
